Save the Children

What is Workplace Giving?

Workplace giving is the process of making regular donations to Save the Children through your organisation's payroll system.

Where does the money go?

Donations from workplace giving go to where the need is the greatest for Save the Children Australia. This can include domestic, international and humanitarian programs and related activities.

How does it work?

Donations are deducted automatically from your pre-tax salary on a regular basis (usually when you're paid on a weekly, fortnightly or monthly basis). This means that your tax deduction is immediate and therefore no need for you to collect receipts.

Give as little as $5 from your salary each pay and help make a positive difference.

What are the benefits of Workplace Giving?

- Flexible, giving options for employees to decide exactly how much they want to donate.
- Easy to set up via your payroll.
- Cost-effective, efficient and affordable. It is a low cost way for Save the Children to raise the vital funds we need to undertake our work in communities, both in Australia and overseas.

How to set it up?

Nominate Save the Children Australia as your charity of choice for workplace giving to your payroll department. By law every payroll system must have the capability to facilitate workplace giving donations, which means that you will always have the opportunity to donate to Save the Children Australia. If you or your payroll department require assistance please email us.

Education

Your donation can go towards helping children around the world go to school, because we know education can change a child's life.

 $10

could provide 3 books for children who don't have access to reading materials.

Child Protection

Your donation can go towards protecting children around the world, by helping to strengthen families and communities so they can safely care for and protect their children from harm.

 $15

could provide a simple educational toy, such as playdough or paints, for an early education program.

Health

Your donation can go towards helping children survive preventable diseases like pneumonia, diarrhoea, measles and malaria, and help more babies survive childbirth with the help of a skilled attendant.

could vaccinate a child against five deadly diseases, ensuring they can fight off illnesses that kill thousands of children in their country every year.

Children in Crisis

Your donation towards Children in Crisis helps deliver life-saving aid to children affected by war and disasters, whenever and wherever children are in crisis.

 $32
